You¢ÂÂÂll find more help with time management here. 2. Read the instructions carefully. Many strong candidates lose marks in IELTS Reading because they don¢ÂÂÂt read the instructions properly. Pay close attention to the instructions you¢ÂÂÂre given to avoid losing easy marks. 3. Don¢ÂÂÂt panic. Some of the questions will be easy and some will be extremely difficult. (I knew many IELTS teachers who had to check the answers to some questions because they are so challenging!) The wrong thing to do is spend a large amount of time on a hard question. If the answer does not present itself, move on to the next one. You can always come back to the difficult questions later. It¢ÂÂÂs important that you stay calm and keep your nerves under control. Accepting that you are probably not going to get all of the questions correct might help you to control your nerves and timing on test day! 4. It¢ÂÂÂs really a vocabulary test. In many ways, IELTS Reading is more of a vocabulary test than a reading test. The reason is that you need a wide range of vocabulary to understand the passages of text given to you. You must also have an awareness of synonyms and paraphrasing if you wish to identify the information required to answer the questions correctly. 5. Don¢ÂÂÂt expect to understand every word. If you don¢ÂÂÂt understand a word in the test, you should look at the words and sentences around it for clues as to its meaning. Alternatively, you can move on and forget about it. Focus on the words that are related to the question and don¢ÂÂÂt worry about the words you don¢ÂÂÂt understand. For more help with improving your reading skills, click the image below to join my free IELTS Reading challenge: IELTS Reading Question Types Click on any of the links below for a full step-by-step guide to answering each IELTS Reading question type: This post will help answer short answer questions more effectively by looking at a sample question, identifying common problems and giving you a strategy to use on exam day. This article will help you answer multiple-choice questions more effectively. We look at common problems and how to fix them. In these kinds of questions, you will be given a summary of information from the text andÃ Âthere will be some gaps in thatÃ Âsummary. Matching Sentence EndingsÃ Â In this IELTS Reading question, you will be given a list of incomplete sentences with no endings and another list with possible endings. Your job is to match the incomplete sentences with the correct ending based on the reading text. In this question type, you will be given a number of sentences with gaps in them and asked to complete the sentences with words from the reading text. Check out this article to learn how to do so strategically. ¢ÃÂÂTrue, False, Not Given¢ÂÂÂ questions requires you to identify if the information in a text is true or not. You will be given a number of factual statements and you have to check in the text if they are true or not. This is probably the most difficult question in the reading paper. Matching Headings Tips andÃ ÂStrategy In the IELTS Reading test, you may be asked to match headings to sections of text. This type of question tests your ability to understand the main idea of each paragraph. In the IELTS Reading test, you might get a question that asks you to label a diagram. This post will show you examples, look at common problems and provide you with a strategy for answering these questions effectively. Matching Information to Paragraphs In this kind of question, you are asked to match statements to paragraphs in the reading text. This post will look at example question types and show you my step-by-step strategy for matching information to paragraphs. In the IELTS Reading exam, you must answerÃ Â40 questions in 60 minutes.
